Thanks for showing interest in volunteering on behalf of our dedicated staff here at FusionFall Universe! We appreciate your interest in joining our team of moderators. We're currently looking for applicants with the following skills:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Community Team</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>In-Game Moderating</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Forum Moderation</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Alternate Account Approval/Denial</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Support Ticket Response</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

If you’re interested in joining the FusionFall Universe community team and feel capable of doing all of the above tasks, please fill out this application.

It should be noted that Discord is our primary means of communication. Therefore, you’re required to have Discord and a working microphone to be accepted onto the team. In order to ensure that you fit with the workflow of the team, we require that you are able to voice chat with us. To verify that you meet these requirements, an interview will be conducted through a Discord voice session. There are limited exceptions to this, so if you feel confident in your moderation skills, do not be discouraged from submitting an application anyway.

Another main point is that good conduct is a must, especially when interacting with members of the community. As a potential member of our community team, it is your job to set the status quo and be a role model. We will not tolerate poor conduct coming out of any member of our team.
Please fill in the following information:

Name or Alias: _______________________________________
(What name do you prefer to go by?)

FusionFall Universe Username: _______________________________________
(Don't have an account? Please create one before you submit your application. We also encourage you to post on the forums beforehand and interact with the community to some extent.)

What experience do you have with moderation and community management?
________________________________________________________________________
________________________________________________________________________
________________________________________________________________________

Why are you interested in helping to moderate the FusionFall Universe community?
________________________________________________________________________
________________________________________________________________________
________________________________________________________________________

What does your schedule look like?
(How often would you be available to perform your duties as a community team member?)
________________________________________________________________________
________________________________________________________________________
________________________________________________________________________
If you have any other comments/questions, please leave them below:

________________________________________________________________________

________________________________________________________________________

________________________________________________________________________

Upon the completion of typing onto or scanning the printed version of this form, please e-mail the form to:

moderationapp@fusionfalluniverse.com

Should your application process be advanced to step two, the recruiter in charge of handling your application process will send you a link to our Discord server. If you do not have a Discord account, make sure to make and verify one, as an unverified Discord account will delete itself after a day. We will add you to a private text & voice channel on Discord for further questions.

If all goes well, you'll be admitted on to the FFU Community Team under a trial period. Your duties will include moderating the forums, answering and replying to help tickets, moderating ingame communications and player interactions, and approving/denying alternate accounts. During this time, you'll be able to learn the ropes and get to know other members of the team. Do a good job and you're good to go!